Canada Needs Population

Although the results of the census of Canada taken in June last have not yet been officially announced, sufficient information is available to establish the fact that the figures of population are going to prove highly disappointing to those people who, basing their calculations on the yearly return of immigrants entering the Dominion, had expectations of seeing a very substantial increase in the number of people in Canada.

Each recurring decennial census in Canada brings the same disappointment. Between one census and the next, hundreds of thousands, yes, millions of immigrants are reported as having entered the Dominion. The vital statistics likewise report the fact that the number of births exceed deaths by many more hundreds of thousands. Yet when the census is taken the people which are supposed to be here, and presumably ought to be here, are not in evidence. They came here but they have disappeared. The question which demands an answer is: Where have they gone, and why?

The Canadian Council of Agriculture, which has been giving some study to this problem, in a statement recently made public, points out that, according to the returns of the Department of Immigration, no less than 1,812,836 immigrants came to this country between April 1, 1911, and March 31, 1921, which corresponds with the census period; also that during this same period births in Canada exceeded deaths by 1,140,000. In other words, that from these two sources there should be an increase in Canada's population of 2,952,836, which would bring the 1911 census of population of 7,206,643 up to 10,159,479 in 1921. As a matter of fact it is now confidently predicted that the census of 1921 will not show nine million people, and possibly not more than 8,500,000.

On all sides, statements are heard that Canada needs a larger population; that the future of its railways, the ability to carry and ultimately pay off the huge national debt, depends upon the development of its natural resources, and that such development can only be brought about by a large influx of people to do the necessary work. The need for a strong, aggressive immigration policy is, therefore, urged. True, there are a few voices raised in opposition to such a policy, but they are in a minority.

The writer of this column agrees that such an immigration policy is necessary, and that Canada's efforts to secure settlers of the right type must be spasmodic, but permanent, well organized and continuous. But in the light of past immigration returns, reports of vital statistics, and census takings, it is apparent that something more than getting people to come to Canada is needed. The adoption of policies that will keep them here seems to be required above everything else.

If Canada cannot retain its native-born sons and daughters it is idle to expect new people to come and stay here. Clearly there is something wrong somewhere. If our native-born had remained at home, and if we had retained the large percentage of incoming immigrants during the past quarter of a century, Canada's population today would be double what it is, and, like compound interest, the future increase would be rapid.

Party politics can find no place for discussion in this column. There are plenty of forums for the discussion of such politics, but this is not one of them. But politics in the broad meaning of the term—that is, the science and business of government as distinct from party organization, shibboleths, and particular policies—have a proper place here. In fact, no good citizen or true patriot can properly neglect them.

It is our conviction, then, that while Canada does need the most wide-awake, progressive and aggressive immigration policy that can possibly be devised, and that full advantage should be taken of its opportunity which presents itself throughout the world owing to the desire of millions of people to emigrate from the old world countries, the first step in the framing of Canada's immigration policy should be a determination of the causes of the drift of people away from Canada, native-born and immigrants.

There is a cause for it, or a combination of causes. The cause should be ascertainable, and once ascertained it ought to be possible to apply a remedy and remove the cause. Every manufacturer, financier, lawyer, operator, merchant, professional man, artisan and farmer is interested, and vitally interested in this problem. The application of the needed remedy might upset many preconceived ideas and destroy long accepted and time honored policies. But what of it, if those ideas and policies are the cause of Canada's loss?

Suppose some cherished policy of the manufacturers on the one hand, or the farmers on the other hand, had to go by the board, would they not both be the gainers by adding millions to the population? Imagine what it would mean to Canada's manufacturers today if the immigrants and native-born between 1911 and 1921 were in Canada. What a domestic market in which to sell their goods. And what a market in taxation, and in improved facilities for the farmer would result if the Dominion's population was between ten and fifteen millions instead of less than nine millions!

The need of population is Canada's most needed. It is the outstanding national issue. In it is bound up all our issues and through its solution practically all other problems will be solved.

Alberta's Grain Capacity

Large Storage Elevators Are Found in Many Towns.

The average grain capacity per station for the whole of the Province of Alberta amounts to over 110,000 bushels, as compared with 89,000 bushels for Saskatchewan, and 58,000 bushels for Manitoba. The largest country storage elevator is at Vegreville, Alberta, with a capacity of 476,000 bushels, although Verigin in Saskatchewan runs a good second with a capacity of 440,000 bushels. Alberta towns are uniformly possessed of large storage facilities; Youngstown has space for 384,000 bushels, Barons 373,000 bushels, Carmichael 320,000 bushels and Blackie 290,000 bushels.

When Your Appetite Fails This Is What You Need

When the very thought of eating makes you feel dizzy, when you're run down, stomach in bad shape, you need a real housecleaning with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They tone up the liver, assist in stomach and improve digestion. The taste becomes aware of new flavors in food you never noticed before. You feel like a new man and whole lot better after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Many folks used this fine old remedy and kept it in the pink of condition all the time. See at all dealers or The Catarrhose Co., Montreal.

A Scotch cabman, according to the London Sunday Express, was driving an American sightless around Edinburgh. He stopped suddenly, and with a wave of his whip, announced, "That is John Knox's house." "Who is John Knox?" asked the American. The cabman was indignant. After a pause he blurted out, "Get, do you never read your Bible, mon?"

Hiccup Epidemic Prevalent

Growing Hemp in Manitoba

First Year's Crop Will Be Five Hundred Tons.

The hemp crop of Manitoba for 1921, the first year that it has been cultivated extensively, will be large, according to a Winnipeg company, under whose direction farmers in the Province seed and sow the hemp. Five hundred tons will be realized. It is estimated, and at Portage la Prairie, 200 acres were under cultivation. More than 400 acres have been sown to hemp in the Swan River district.

Auto Industry in Saskatchewan.

Expansion of the automobile industry in Saskatchewan is being illustrated by statistics which have been compiled by the Provincial Government for the first eight months of 1921. The number of licenses issued for private cars was 59,464; motor cycles 325; trucks 1,747.

Contracts Let For Irrigation Scheme

Experts Say It Presents Few Engineering Difficulties.

Contracts have been let for the construction of the United Irrigation district, which when completed will make possible the irrigation of about fifteen thousand acres of fertile farm lands about forty miles southwest of Lethbridge. Irrigation experts, who have been over this district say they have never met with any scheme of its size that presents fewer engineering difficulties. It is hoped to have the works completed in time for the irrigation of 1923.

All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Emphatic.

A sentimental youth, who had been suffering for some time from severe love-sickness, arrived one morning at the office looking the picture of abject misery. "What's the matter?" asked his employer. "I can scarcely tell you," he faltered. "I—I have at last proposed—and I have been rejected." "Tut-tut," said the employer cheerfully. "It will turn out all right in the end. A woman's 'No' often means 'Yes.' " "Perhaps it does," was the sorrowful reply. "But this woman didn't say 'No.' She said 'Rats!'"

WHAT TO DO FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much.

Nine-tenths of all forms of indigestion or so-called stomach trouble are not due to the condition of the stomach itself, but are caused by other influences. The great contributing cause of indigestion is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to take care of the food. If the blood is thin the stomach first feels sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms and causes pains in various parts of the body. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison.

Relief from this condition can be obtained by the tonic treatment of Dr. D. Shaw, Mt. Stewart, P.E.I., tried and now warmly recommends to others.

Mr. Shaw says: "I suffered from indigestion for over four years, and have tried many such troubles, but never obtained more than temporary relief. The trouble was aggravated by constipation, setting in owing to the stomach failing to do its work, and laxatives only gave relief to the bowels and left the stomach in worse condition. The result was my blood was growing more and more anemic. I did not sleep well at night and was growing despondent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes and by the time they were used I was again well. I was so much changed for the better. This greatly encouraged me and I continued taking the pills for some months, by which time my stomach was all right again, my blood good, nervous strength and life was again well living. My advice to all who suffer from stomach trouble is to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Paris, Ont.—"For five years I suffered from pain caused by displacement of my organs and in my back. All this time I was in my work and in my work, and I was taking different medicines than I thought were good. I saw the advertisement in the papers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound and took it faithfully. I am now in perfect health and do all my own work. I recommend it to others, and give you permission to publish the true story of my little box and in the newspapers as a testimonial."—Mrs. D. Cassady, Box 61, Paris, Ont.

Why women will continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the lives of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, irregularities, etc.

Accident to Mrs Breitkreitz.

While the fires were raging among the farms at Golden Spike District last week, an effort was made to save some hay stacks, on the John Breitkreitz farm. Mrs Breitkreitz went out to throw some water on the stack nearest to the house, when, on looking around, she found a child had followed her. She picked up the child to save it from the fire, when she found herself hemmed in by the blaze. She made a brave effort to break thru, but was pretty badly burned about the head and arm. The child also was severely burned around the head.

Bush Fire Losses.

The Fire Warden has sent out a warning to every farmer, to use every means of caution in connection with fires this fall, owing to the heavy losses sustained from the destructive element.

The fires which had been running in the districts south of town have burned themselves out, but the danger is not all over as yet.

While the fires were at their worst last week, an urgent call was sent to the City from Clymont for assistance to fight bush fires; but the Edmonton Brigade was unable to respond, owing to the heavy demands on them, nearer home.

The districts of Telfordville, Buford and Thorsby were badly scooped by the fires, several of the farmers in these districts having lost their grain, houses, horses, hay, etc. The Provincial Police at Leduc brought out three auto loads of fire fighters, to help the farmers.

In the Telfordville district the following were among the losers:

F C Penoson,
J Johnson, considerable hay and grain;

C Hols, new house;
M McDuke, five stacks of grain and quantity of hay.

The Teachers' Convention.

The Convention of the teachers of Mr R B Brooks' Inspectorate met in Stony Plain Town Hall on Friday last, October 21, beginning at 9.30 a.m. and continuing until 5 in the evening.

As this was the first year for the smaller conventions to be held, this one was more or less of an experiment.

The first order of business was the election of a chairman, which resulted in the unanimous choice of Mr P B Sullivan of Evansburg.

The convention was then opened by the singing of "O Canada," followed by the regular program, consisting of

An address by Inspector R B Brooks, the subject being "The Purpose of the Convention";

An address by Supervisor of Schools G Fred McNally, on "Revising the Curriculum of the Elementary School";

George E Martin, Esq., of Spruce Grove, an address on "History in a Rural School."

An interesting discussion was participated in by the delegates present on the subjects of the addresses as they were delivered.

This concluded the morning session.

In the afternoon the speakers were:

C G Austin, Esq., of Glory Hills, who spoke on "Grade IX, in the 1-Room School";

Supervisor McNally, on "The Rural School Time Table"; and Inspector Brooks, "Education and Its Needs, in This Inspectorate."

At the close of the afternoon session various committees were appointed for the coming year, with Mr P B Sullivan again as Chairman, and Mr C E Clarke as Sec.-Treasurer.

All were of the opinion that the Convention was a great success, but the general regret was that the time was so short. It was recommended that, next year, an effort be made to have the Convention extended and hold it for two days instead of one, as was the case this year.

The number of teachers present at the Convention was thirty-six.

In the evening the big item was the concert and dance, for the entertainment of the visiting teachers and the public.

C. E. CLARKE,
Sec.-Treas. Stony Plain Teachers' Convention.

Thomas was Remanded.

Thomas Thorson, of Duffield, was found guilty last week in Edmonton of theft of goods while under-judicial seizure, and on his promise to make restitution, was remanded for two months in $100 bail, to give him the opportunity to making good the loss.

Keep Liquor Stocks Down.

On Monday last notices were sent out from the Attorney-General's Department to all druggists thruout the Province, to the effect that the Government will not be responsible for any inconvenience which may be caused them if on or about the 1st of March next they have an over-large supply of liquor on hand.

Attorney-General Brownlee explains that the warning is being sent out so that the druggists may be prepared in good time for the immediate enactment of whatever new legislation on Liquor Act lines is passed by the Legislature after the new year, or whatever new regulations may be passed in the meantime by the Government.

Card of Thanks.

Those in charge of the concert and dance on Friday last wish to thank the people of Stony Plain who so generously loaned various things and helped in a financial way, thus making the day a success from start to finish.

Signed on behalf of the Committee, C. E. CLARKE.

Friday's Popular Concert.

A large crowd turned out to the concert held in Ducholke's Hall Friday night last. Their effort was rewarded by having the pleasure of listening to an exceptionally fine program, which included a number of new and original pieces.

Each number was received with well deserved applause, and encores were invariably insisted on, until Chairman Hardwick, with a view to concluding the program within reasonable hours, put the ban on all encores.

As usual, it would appear unfair to particularise on any one number on the program; suffice it to say that each and all acquitted themselves in an admirable manner.

Among those from the outside who contributed to the program were the pupils of Mrs Reese Burns, who had made the trip from Edmonton in an open car.

"I didn't know it," she protested. "I don't believe either Beulah or Jim had any such thought in their head. But even if they did, Jim Travers is an decent a young man as there is in Plainville district, and you're nothing to be ashamed of except your own temper, that drove them away in the way they went."

"I won't listen to that kind of talk from you, any longer," said Harris sternly. "I'll chase the young reprobates to earth, if it takes all summer. And unless you can clear yourself of being mixed up in this—well, there'll be something to settle on that score, too. Hitch up the drivers, Allan, and be quick about it!"

"You're not going to leave your ploughing, are you?" asked his wife. The words sprang to her lips without any misgiving. It was such an unusual thing for her husband to want to leave the farm work unfinished. The practice on the Harris homestead was work first, all other considerations second.

"That's enough of your sarcasm," he snapped. "I would rather have our name is threatened with a disgrace like this than to be as anxious to defend it as I am. How it is you go back on me in a moment like this? You're not the woman you once were, Mary."

"And you're not the man you once were, John," she answered. "Oh, can't you see that we're just reaping what has been sown—the crop we've been raising through all these years? Beulah's very life has been crying out for action, for scope, for room for something that would give her a reason for existence. That's what would put purpose into her life, and we've not tried to answer that cry. I blame myself as much as you, John, perhaps more, because I should have read her heart—I should have seen the danger signals long ago. I know, now, I didn't think. That's the trouble, John, we've been so busy, both of us, we haven't taken time to think with her. The present generation is not the past; what was enough for you and me isn't enough for our children. It doesn't do any good to scold—scolding doesn't change conditions; but if we'd stopped and thought and studied over them we might have changed them—or cured them. We didn't, John; you were too busy with your wheat and your cattle, and I was too busy with my house-work, and what have we made of it? We've gathered some property together, and our cars have grown in proportion, but that which was more to us than all the property in the world we have lost because we—because we—because we were slowly courting down her

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to cure the kidneys. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:

cheeks, and her thin, work-worn arms were stealing about his neck. "Don't think dear," she whispered, "that I'm indifferent, or that this hurts me less than you, or that I would shield myself from one lot of my just blame, but let us face the fact that I have been our mistake rather than Beulah's."

"I removed her arms, not ungraciously. 'I never thought it would come to this,' I thought. I humbled myself every way I could. As for our hard work—well, work makes money, and I noticed Beulah could spend her share. There was no protesting about the work that earned the money when she wanted a new hat or a new dress, and she generally got what she wanted."

"You don't understand John. It wasn't the work, it was the making of good work, and giving it so much of our lives that there was none left for that. That's why she looked so weary where else—if she has looked somewhere else."

"Allan works as hard and harder than ever Beulah did, and Allan doesn't feel that way about it."

"That's true," she admitted, "but Allan's ambition is work. He works and is satisfied, but Beulah thinks, and isn't satisfied. It's the difference in their nature, and we didn't take it into consideration. In every case she tried to link his blame with hers, that the burden might unite instead of separate them."

"If she thought a little more before this mad prank it would have been better for everybody," he said. "Well, she'll have plenty of time to think yet." He stepped to the kitchen door, and from the hall above took down the repeating-ring.

"You're not going to take that," he cried. "Don't take it to John. It can't possibly do any good, and it may do a lot of harm."

"I won't do anything foolish," he answered, "but I'll take it along just the same."

Allan, with the drivers harnessed to the top buggy, was now at the door. Without saying good-bye to his wife Harris joined him, and the two set off on their search. Almost at the gate they met George Grant, who had come over to haul water for another day's ploughing. He stopped in some surprise at the turnout.

"I guess we won't be ploughing to-day," said Harris. He hesitated before George's questioning look, and a certain sense of family shame came upon him. But it was evident that he could hardly spare (or Beulah without missing her) her departure, and he might as well make a clean breast of the affair.

"Nothing wrong at home, I hope, Mr. Harris?" said the young neighbor, noting his troubled appearance. "Nobody sick, or anything?"

"Yes, there is something wrong," said Harris, trying vainly to control the bitterness in his voice. "Beulah's left us."

"Who, Beulah? I can hardly believe that, Mr. Harris. It was only last night I was talking with her."

"Well, she's gone. Left through the night. We—well, I'll tell you, George, we had a little disagreement, but I'd no notion she'd take it so much to heart. Of course you know about the trouble with Jim yesterday. Taking everything together—there wasn't no ploughing to-day." Harris had said more than he meant; he could feel the colour mounting into his hair, and the bad English of his last words betrayed a subtle recklessness rather than carelessness of speech.

"Don't you believe a word of it," said George. "I know Jim, and I know Beulah, and if anybody else hinted what you've said you'd want to use that rifle on them. Like enough Beulah's staying somewhere around the neighbourhood, and she'll be back here when she has time to think it over."

"That proves you don't know Beulah," said Allan. "As for Jim, I never able to get below that smile, and I saw more of him than you did, George."

"Hell, I hope you find a way out," said George, sincerely. "It would have been like her to come to see our place, but she isn't there. Maybe you'll find her at Morrison's."

"That's possible," said Harris. "We'll go over there, anyway."

But Morrison knew no more of Beulah's whereabouts than did George, and inquiry at other homes in the neighborhood was equally futile. Harris shrank from carrying his search into the town, as he dreaded the publicity that would be attached to it. He was a subscriber, somewhat in arrears to the local paper, and by calling on the editor and squaring up for a year in advance he could probably make himself solid in that quarter, but the gossip of the villagers could not be silenced by any such simple method. But as the day wore on and the search continued fruitless he finally dismissed the thought.

If Beulah and Jim were really married the Presbyterian minister would be likely to find something out in the matter, and the Rev. Andrew Guthrie was a man of sense and discernment. Harris had frequently gone to hear him preach before the labours of the farm had grown to their present magnitude, and he even yet contributed five dollars a year to the stipend.

Mr. Guthrie received his guest cordially, albeit with some surmising as to which member of the family might be sick, but delicacy forbade a direct question. Now, in agricultural communities it is something of an offence to approach any matter of importance by a frontal attack. There must be the due amount of verbal skirmishing, reconnoitering, and outwanking before the main purpose is revealed.

"Consequently, Harris, for all his tortures of suspense, spent some time in discussing the weather, the crops, and the prospect of a labour shortage in harvest."

"I hope," said Mr. Guthrie at length, "feeling that the custom of the community forbids a direct purpose is revealed. 'Yes, all that's there,' said Harris. 'All that's there,' said Harris. 'I don't know any of your folks we have. Yes, I know Mrs. Harris is down East? I'm sure a summer amid the orchards of her old home would be a delight to her, and, of course, Mr. Harris, you are able to gratify yourself in these little matters now. Things are not what they were in the early days, Jack, when I preached in Tom Morrison's log-house, and you lot the has at the services. I'll warrant that voice-of-voice sing yet if you gave it a chance.'"

Harris received these remarks with a mixture of feelings. The minister's reference to financial straits was carried with it a certain gratification, but it comforted poorly with his recent conversations with his wife and with his present mission.

"And Beulah?" continued the minister, conscious that his first shot had gone wild. "She's a fine young woman now. I see her in church occasionally. In fact, I met her speaking with Mrs. Burton, the choir leader, a day or so ago, and Beulah's name was mentioned between us."

"It was about Beulah I came to see you," said Harris, with averted eyes. "She's a fine young woman, and she's a decent chap. But we must find the girl and talk this over quietly with her. Is there any place in town she would be likely to go to? What about Mrs. Good's boarding-house? I will just call up on the telephone. I can make inquiry without the necessity of any explanations."

Inquiry at the house of Mrs. Good brought a strong ray of light out of the darkness. Beulah had been there during the morning, and had explained that she was leaving on the west-bound train, which even now was thudding at the station. On learning this, without a word, Harris sprang into the buggy, while Allan brought a sharp cut of the whip across the spirited horses. They reached the railway station half a minute late; the train was already pulling out, and at Harris's eye followed it in anger and vexation they plainly saw Jim Travers swing lightly on to the rear platform.

With an oath the farmer reached for his rifle, but Allan wrenched it from his hands before any shot could be fired. "Don't be a fool," he whispered, and started the horses homeward.

CHAPTER X. Into The Farther West.

For the first time in his life Harris surrendered to this purpose to the judgment of his son, and as they drove homeward along the dusty trail in the heat of the day, he thought that came home to him that Allan was right. To have used his gun would, of course, have been murder; he had never seriously intended doing anything so rash, although for one impetuous moment this passion had made him irresponsible. And, as he thought it all over, he concluded that nothing was to be gained by pursuit of the runaway.

Remarkable Gain In Weight Reported By This Young Woman

"Before I began taking Tanlac I only weighed 76 pounds, I now weigh over one hundred and am gaining every day," said Miss La Rue Davis, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

I bought my first bottle of Tanlac at Gas City, Ind., and it helped me so much that I continued using it. I have always been very delicate and suffered a great deal from stomach trouble and rheumatism. I rarely ever had any appetite, and simply could not relish anything. I fell off runways. There was only one west-bound train in the day; he could not give chase until the morning, and he would be able to lead him by twenty-four hours as long as he cared to keep up the pursuit. True, he might telegraph ahead to the police, but that meant publicity, and would probably be ineffectual in the end. She had gone of her own free will, and although his heart hurt even under his anger, now that she had gone she might stay a night at his home, a fond father, and a share in the family estate for a hired man.

"Oh, I feel so different now. My appetite is good and I can hardly get enough to eat. Tanlac is simply grand and I can truthfully say it is the only medicine that has ever done me any good."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

British Premier Pleads For Understanding And Peace Among Nations

London.—In outlining the Government's proposal to alleviate unemployment, Mr. Lloyd George made the following declaration in the House of Commons:

"Peace and a good understanding among nations is vital. Let us get out of the atmosphere where if you talk about a German without a frown on your brow you are not a patriot. Trade cannot start in such an atmosphere. If you intervene to make peace, your motives are misunderstood; but if Great Britain will not do it, who will? We want to see the nations begin again the task of peace."

Mr. Lloyd George, referring to trade with Russia, said there had been no restrictions on the British side to trading, but that the total trade for the first eight months of the present year had been only £3,150,000, which showed there was not an unlimited field in Russia for British or any other enterprise.

In the debate following the Prime Minister's speech, Mr. Agnew said in his judgment the question of unemployment raised the necessity for re-consideration of the entire problem of international indebtedness, including the indebtedness of the Allies to one another, and the indebtedness of their late enemies to the Allies.

Pacific Naval Base Not Named

Premier Hughes Says It Will Not Be Singapore.

Melbourne.—Premier Hughes, speaking in the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth, said the question of a British naval base in the Pacific was discussed at the recent conference of the Empire and that a decision regarding it was reached. He added, however, that the base would not be at Singapore.

Premier Hughes' reference to Singapore may be taken in connection with an article in the London Daily Sketch reviewing the rumor that Great Britain was preparing a new naval base in the Pacific and which stated it was intended to spend £2,000,000 in converting Singapore into a first-class station. The sketch added that if an agreement were reached at the Washington armament conference, the arrangement which included the creation of an alternative base of less importance in Australia, could be countermanded.

Red Springs, N.C.—Standing under the United States flag with the Union Jack to his right and the flag of Canada to his left, Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States speaking before the Scottish Union of six nurses at the West End Hotel, made a plea for a better understanding of international problems by the people—the voters of the country—whom he styled as the real rulers in democratic countries.

Poisoned Candy Sent to Nurse.

Chicago.—An exhaustive search for the sender of a box of poisoned candy, responsible for the critical illness of six nurses at the West End Hospital, is being conducted by post office inspectors.

The box came through the mail and was addressed to a 17-year-old student nurse. It contained home-made fudge, analysis of which was said to show that the deadly poison permeated all the candy.

Give your local merchants a chance. Buy at home.

Vancouver.—While an unlimited natural market for British Columbia fish exists in the prairie provinces of Canada, fishing interests on the Pacific coast have never been able to develop this market owing to the unfavorable railway freight tariffs between Pacific coast points to points in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. B. C. Burke, manager of Wallace Fisheries here, and the leading salmon fish canner, told the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Although the British Columbia product is with a comparatively short distance of the prairie market, the foreign market has always been more accessible than the nearby domestic market, Mr. Burke declared. During the war enormous quantities of B.C. fresh sea fish were shipped to the prairie provinces but not before the Government paid 25 per cent. of the freight rate. When this bonus was withdrawn at the close of the war the shipments of fish to prairie points fell off to practically nothing and this Mr. Burke attributed to the high freight rate. He urged the elimination of the mountain scale of tariff in order that British Columbia industries might develop a home market.

Comparative freight rates as between Vancouver and Eastern points and Montreal to Western points submitted by Mr. Burke indicated that the British Columbia shipper must pay a freight rate of 97.5 per cent. higher. The value of the production in British Columbia in 1929 was $22,225,161, or 65.3 per cent. of that produced in all Canada.

F. G. Evans, representing the fruit and vegetable canners of the province, said that the industry he represented suffered from the same discriminatory freight rates as other industries in British Columbia.

Express Messenger Robbed

About $30,000 Secured From C.P.R. Train No. 4.

Moose Jaw.—Investigation by officials of the Dominion Express Company established the fact that approximately $30,000 was secured when H. Bartle, express messenger on train No. 4, C.P.R., was held up by an unknown bandit in the vicinity of Swift Current. The police, it is believed, are working on the theory that more than one man was concerned in the holdup.

Officials of the Saskatchewan Provincial Police, who have been scouring the Province in the vicinity of Parkburg and Chaplin in quest of the bandit, or bandits. Inspector Goldsmith, with several police officers from Regina, has been directing the man-hunt, with Moose Jaw as headquarters.

A cordon of police has been thrown about the two suspected areas in the neighborhood of Chaplin and Parkburg, and police officers have been placed in an attempt to round up the marauder.

PAINFUL DIARRHOEA

CRAMPS IN STOMACH

Mr. Fred Funston, Craik, Sask., writes:—"A year ago last harvest I was taken with a sudden attack of diarrhoea, which completely laid me out, and in a few hours I had to quit work. I don't know what the cause was, but the doctor's treatment was of no avail. I was so weak and my nerves were so bad that I was unable to get up. I was in a great deal of distress. At last I got a chance to send to town for a couple of bottles of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I used it according to the way I felt and soon obtained a great change for the better, for which I was very thankful. I don't know what the cause of my sickness was except the extremely hot weather and the active work of stocking the wheat."

Several of my neighbors were taken the same as myself and had the doctor attend them, but they didn't get any great relief until I advised them to use "Dr. Fowler's," when they soon expected a great change. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 16 years and many cheap imitations are being offered to the public.

Be sure and get the genuine put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price, 50¢ a bottle.

The Vital Issue

"What we have to decide is this—Are we going to continue the protective system of this country or are we not? That is the question and that is the whole question. And the great, big, necessary thing is that every voter in this country from the Yukon to Halifax knows that this is the question he or she is deciding when he or she votes in this great contest."

—ARTHUR MEIGHEN

THE vital issue in the coming election—in fact, the only issue—is the Tariff, and to every clear thinking Canadian it should be readily apparent that a Protective Fiscal Policy is absolutely essential to stability, progress and development.

Every important country in the world upholds Protection as an essential economic principle. Even Great Britain—so long the stronghold of Free Trade—has now adopted laws that constitute Protection of the most effective kind. In fact, the present policy among most nations is towards raising their tariff walls, not lowering them. In the face of these facts it would be suicidal for Canada to do exactly the reverse and discard the fiscal system which has been responsible for its progress during the past forty-three years.

Free Trade would mean death to Canadian Industry. It would also result in the immediate closing down of Canadian plants of foreign firms, with consequent additional unemployment. There are to-day 650 American factories alone in Canada. Similar proposed ventures would be abandoned. New capital would refuse to come to a Country lacking adequate protection and present industrial enterprise would be promptly strangled by foreign competition.

The preservation of the home market by a Reasonable Protective Tariff is vital to both city dweller and agrarian alike—now as never before. More capital is urgently needed for the development of Canada's enormous resources, which will result in a lessening of unemployment and an increased population. More work and more workers will produce an enlarged home market for products of both city and farm, and the exodus of Canadian men and women—and the dollars they earn—will be precluded.

The United States has slammed her trade door in the face of Canadian farmers by adopting the Fordney Bill, and the farmer is consequently now even more dependent upon the home market than in the past.

Yet Cramer asks you to destroy that home market by voting for Free Trade.

King's policy—if he has one—will result in the destruction of the Tariff.

Meighen stands four square for Reasonable Protection—Protection for all the people—and asks for an overwhelming mandate to give both industry and agriculture that assurance which will spell prosperity for all. Individual prosperity depends upon National prosperity. Your personal interests and Canada's very existence hang upon your vote.

Take Advantage of Our Offer

We have made arrangements with the E. J. Henth Co. Limited who publish the CANADIAN POWER FARMER whereby we are able to offer that farm magazine together with our own weekly at the one price for both papers.

The CANADIAN POWER FARMER is Western Canada's biggest farm monthly. It is now in its twentieth year which means that it is thoroughly established throughout the West. It deals with the mechanical side of the farm. Every issue is full of helpful hints and experiences on the operation of all kinds of farm machinery from a washing-machine to a tractor. Its editor has just completed a trip of several months over Western Canada in a motor car for the purpose of studying the mechanical needs of the farmers. He visited the farmers, lived with them and worked with them. The results of his trip will appear during the next twelve months.

This offer may be withdrawn at any time. Without doubt your intention is to renew for this weekly, then why not take advantage now. It ain't the crowd that follows the hearse when you are taking your last ride that counts—it's the gang that walks with you when your feet are sore.

The Way to Eat.

A good many people will be pleased to hear that Sir James Crichton-Brown, London dietician, thinks people should eat whatever they like. Be guided by common sense and appetite, he says.

Diners who go thru each meal as if it were a jungle filled with wild beasts are a great nuisance. People who "can't eat" this or that, as often as not are nursing a pet delusion.

The way to eat is to eat. The thing to eat is food.

The chances are that anything fit to eat is also good to eat.

Liberty Is Britain's Binding Principle

Empire Based on Goodwill and a Common Understanding.

"The British Empire is a saving fact in a very distracted world. It is the most hopeful experiment in human organization which the world has yet seen. It is not so much that it combines men of many races, tongues, traditions and creeds in one system of Government. Other empires have done that. But the British Empire differs from all in one essential respect. It is based not on force but on goodwill and a common understanding. Liberty is its binding principle. Where that principle has not hitherto been applied it is gradually being introduced into the structure."

"The opportune revelation supplied by the war of the unity of the British Empire has, in my judgment, altered the history of the world."—Lloyd George.

Mother! Move Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Hurry mother. Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must ask "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

An Australian Bishop noticed in his congregation a strange face. A day or two later the Bishop met the stranger in the street, congratulated him upon his attendance at the cathedral, and added, "You don't live here, do you?" "No," said the stranger.

"I live way back—mentioning the name of the place. 'Have you many Episcopalsians there?' inquired the Bishop. "No, sir," was the reply. "What we are mostly worried with is rabbits!"

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings the sufferer to rest and health. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is established again.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
